IMC Wins Naval Higher Education IT Consortium Multiple Award Contract

Dulles, VA – Innovative Management Concepts, Inc. \(IMC\), an information technology services and solutions provider, was awarded the Naval Higher Education Information Technology Consortium (NHEITC) Indefinite Delivery/Indefinite Quantity (IDIQ) Multiple Award Contract (MAC). This five-year contract will provide for a common pool of resources from which to draw for similar services at each of the NHEITC's three institutions: the Naval Postgraduate School (NPS) in Monterey, California, the Naval War College (NWC) in Newport, Rhode Island, and the United States Naval Academy (USNA) in Annapolis, Maryland.

Through the NHEITC IDIQ MAC, the NHEITC institutions can acquire technical support in 14 critical categories: applications, computer network defense, learning management systems, multimedia educational technologies, virtualization, network and infrastructure maintenance, network engineering, enterprise architecture, service center services, client hardware and lab services, enterprise information, system architecture, system administration, and visualization services. The NHEITC IDIQ MAC has a ceiling value of $92,261,110.

Teaming with IMC on this important Navy work will be the Coleman Group, Inc., Digital Consulting Services, Windmill International, and CompSpec International. The IMC team provides the Navy with extensive experience, low risk, and a broad set of capabilities to meet the mission of the NHEITC and its institutions.
